From Exciting Research to Publications in High-Impact Journals: An Editor's Perspective

Helena Yang , Ph.D
Senior Editor of Cancer Cell

Dr. Yang manages manuscript submissions, peer-review and front matter contents in all topic areas covered by Cancer Cell, and leads a number of initiatives in driving the journal's growth and engagement with the research community.

She is also Cell Press's Editorial Development Advisor. She is responsible for strategy planning and guiding the prestigious STM publisher's overall development in greater China and serves as Cell Press's ambassador to the region. She is a co-organizer of several international meetings such as CNIO Frontiers Meeting "Metastasis Initiation: Mechanistic Insight and Therapeutic Opportunities" at Madrid this Sept and "Hallmarks of Cancer: Asia" Cell Symposium at Beijing last Nov.
